Part B. CV SUMMARY

Dr. Hornillos has been successfully working in projects belonging to many different areas, including organometallic chemistry, development of synthetic methodologies, ligand design, fluorescent labelling and, particularly valuable is his knowledge, in asymmetric catalysis and cross-coupling chemistry. His research career started at the UCLM (2002-2004) working in the synthesis of metallodendrimers based on N-heterocyclic carbenes and pincer complexes and their applications in catalysis. (6 publications). In 2004, after getting a PFI, Valentín move to the IQFR, CSIC in Madrid, to carry out his PhD studies which consisted of the design and synthesis of complex lipid drugs incorporating reactive and fluorescent groups while preserving their therapeutic activity. Dr Hornillos came across many challenging synthetic approaches and got insight into the theoretical aspects of fluorescence spectroscopy resulting in 14 publications (1 as corresponding author) and 1 patent. He also spent 5 months at Novartis in Vienna (1 publication). After obtaining his PhD (2009, Excellent cum Laude), Valentín moved with a fellowship from MEC to the group of Prof. Ben L. Feringa in Groningen, where he work in the field of asymmetric metal-catalysis, in particular allylic substitution, conjugate addition, borylation and cross-coupling reactions. Among the main achievements he developed the first Cu-catalyzed enantioselective coupling between two allyl groups (JACS, 2013), the first asymmetric synthesis of phosphine boronates (ACIE, 2015) or a Pd-catalyzed cross-coupling method (Nat. Commun. 2016). In 2013 he became senior researcher at the University of Groningen where he supervised 3 PhD and 3 Master students, resulting in 5 publications as corresponding author (ACS Catal., Org Lett., Chem. Eur. J., Nat. Commun., and ACIE). In 2015, Valentín secured a highly competitive international fellowship at the postdoctoral level: Talent Hub Fellowship (two years, IP, 152. 685 €) and in December 2015 he moved to the IIQ (CSIC) in Seville. In May 2018, Dr. Hornillos was awarded with a Ramon y Cajal contract at US, where he is performing research on asymmetric catalysis and supervising 4 PhDs (10 publications in international top journals, being IP in 8 of them, 1 book chapter, 1 defended PhD in 2019). Moreover, he has secured funding (40 000 €, IP) from the US.

Valentín has participated in 14 projects (4 international), has been granted with 6 fellowships including a FPI predoctoral grant, MEC postdoctoral grant, a Talent Hub Fellowship and Ramón y Cajal. His research career is supported by 59 publications in international top journals including 1 Nat. Commun., 1 Nat. Protoc., 1 Nat Cell Death and Disease, 3 JACS, 4 ACIE, 3 Chem. Sci., 3 ACS Catal., -6 Chem. Eur. J., 5 Org. Lett., 4 Chem. Commun. etc., in 19 of them as first author and in 14 of them as corresponding author. He is also author of 1 review (Chem. Eur. J.), 1 tutorial review (Chem Soc Rev), 2 book chapters and 1 patent which has been exploited by BIOFTALMIK. According to SCOPUS and WOS, he has an h-index of 25 and has been cited 1431. During his scientific career, he presented 37 communications, 26 international, 15 held orally (2 invited). Valentín has been examiner of 2 thesis and has teaching experience of 456 hours. Valentín has also been reviewer of Org. Lett. (18), ACS catalysis (5), ACIE (5), Nat. Commun. (5), JOC (2), Molecules (2). He has evaluated 3 projects for ANECA and 1 ANR (France).
